A 480 ACRE FARM YIELDS 25 PER CENT. PROFIT A YEAR.

What a Mercer County (Ohio) Farmer Received from One Year's Crop.

Extracts from an interesting letter from P. H. Rynhard, of Starbuck, Manitoba, Canada, gives an excellent idea of the prosperity of those who have gone from the United States to Can-bought, August, 1903, 480 acres of land, paying $12,000 for it. We threshed 2,973 bushels of wheat and between 1,200 and 1,300 bushels of oats and barley from 200 acres. But part of the wheat went down before filling, and was not harvested except for hay. The crop was worth threshing time $3,000. Besides 120 acres laying idle, except a timothy meadow, which is not included in this estimate. Counting the value of the product and the increase of value of land will pay me more than 25 per cent. on the investment. Two brothers in the same neighborhood bought 160 acres each six years ago. They have not done a single thing to this land except to fence it and break and cultivate about one-half of it. Harvested last year 28 bushels wheat per acre. This year 27 bushels per acre. They can get any day $25 per acre These are only a few of many hun dreds of such chances. It looks like boasting, but truth is justifiable, and the world ought to know it, especially the home-seeker. I know of quite a few farmers that have made fortunes in from 10 to 20 years, retired with from $20,000 to $100,000.

Writing concerning another district in the Canadian West, S. L. Short says: "Dear Sir:-I have to inform you that I have just returned from Carrot River Country in Saskatchewan, where I located land of the very finest black vegetable loam, which 1 am proud of, and will move in the Farmers are still plowing there. A mild climate and beautiful country to behold. Cattle are fat and running outside. Wood and water Saw oats weighing 42 pounds to bushel. Potatoes large and well ripened; also wheat that brought there 82 cents. The country exceeded my expectations. Saw oats in stock thicker on the ground than appears ir many of the illustrations sent out it descriptive pamphlets. I have been in many western states, but the soi excels any I ever saw."

The Canadian Government Agents at different points report that the inquiries for literature and railroad rates, etc., to Western Canada are the greatest in the history of their work

MEDICAL MENTION.

Ten beats of a healthy pulse are equal to nine seconds.

Color blindness is, curiously enough, found mainly among the educated classes, of whom no fewer than four per cent, have this defect.

According to a doctor the voices of singers and actors can be much better preserved if used in theaters lighted by electricity rather than by gas.

In 1877 only six per cent. of British children were unvaccinated. Now the proportion of abstension from infantile vaccination has risen to 34 per cent. in towns and 25 per cent. in country districts.

Dr. William Henry, an English physician, states as a result of experiments that in all forms of animal life, insects included, exists the taste for alcohol. He says that fishes are the only real "teetotalers" in creation.

"The statistics of last year," declared Dr. Edward Martin, director of the department of public health and charities of Philadelphia, "showed 3,052 deaths from tuberculosis, and 3,191 deaths from pneumonia. They show also while tuberculosis is decreasing, pneumonia is increasing. It is of the utmost importance that the public becomes aroused to a realization of the gravity of the situation and that it be advised how to protect it-

Effects of Prosperity.

In the six years of the country's greatest prosperity, from 1897 to 1903 average prices of breadstuffs advanced 65 per cent., meats 23.1 per cent., dairy and garden products 50.1 per cent. and clothing 24.1. All these were products of the farmer and stockman who profited more than any other class of the co.nmunity by these advances. The miner benefited 42.1 per cent. by that advance in the average price of metals. The only decrease in the average prices of commodities in that period was in railway freight rates which decreased from .798 per ton-mile in 1897 to .763 in 1903, a loss of 4.4 per cent. The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission shows that the average increase in the pay of railroad employes in that period was a trifle above 8.5 per cent.

SOME SIMPLE REMEDIES.

The Bad Boy and the Groceryman Illustrate the Russo-Japanese War by Exploding the Grocery -Dad's Experiment at Raising Hair on His Bald Head.

BY HON, GEORGE W. PECK.

(Ex-Governor of Wisconsin, formerly pub-lisher of "Peck's Sun," author of "Peck's Bad Boy," etc.) (Copyright, 1994, by Joseph B. Bowles.) The old groceryman had a war map spread out on the counter, and for an bour he had stood up in front of it, reading a morning paper, with his thumb on Port Arthur, his fingers covering the positions occupied by Jap and Russian forces in Manchuria. There was a crash in front of the grocery and the old man jumped behind a barrel, thinking Port Arthur had been blown up, and the Russian fleet terpedoed. "Hello, Matsuma, you young monley," said the old man, as the bad boy burst the door open and rushed in with a shovel at shoulder arms, and mark that war is hell. Gosh! how it came to "present arms" in front of the old man, who came from behind the harrel and acknowledged the salute.

CAME TO PRESENT ARMS.

"Say, now, honest, did you put that rtunk of ice in the stove the day you skipped out last?"

"Sure Mike!" said the boy, as he ran the shovel under the cat that was sleeping by the stove, and tossed her Into a barrel of dried apples. What are you doing with the map of the seat of

"Oh, I was only trying to figure out the plan of campaign, and find out where the Japanese would go to when they are licked," said the old man. "This thing is worrying me. I want to see Russia win, and I think our government ought to send them all the embalmed beef we had left from the war with Spain, but if we did you monkey Japanese would capture it, and have a military funeral over it, and go on eating fish and rice. When this country was in trouble, in 1864, the Russians sent a fleet of warships to New York and notified all Europe to stand back and look pleasant, and, by the great horn spoons, I am going to stand by Russia or bust. I would like to be over there at Port Arthur and witness an explosion of a torpedo under something. Egad, but I glory in the smell of gunpowder. Now, say, here is Port Arthur, by this barrel of dried apples, and there is Mushapata, by the ax handle barrel, see?"

"Well, you and I are just allke," said the boy. "Let's have a sham battle, in the gracery Get down that can of powder."

"Taint against the law, is it?" said the old man as he handed down a tin cannister of powder. "I want excitement, and valuable information, but I gon't want to unduly excite the neighbors." "Oh, don't worry about the neighbors," said the boy, as he poured a little powder under the barrel of dried apples. "Now, as you say, this is Port Arthur. This chest of Oolong tea represents a Japanese cruiser outside the harbor. This box of codfish represents a Russian fort, see? and the stove represents a Russian cruiser. This barrel of ax handles is the Russian army, entrenched behind the bag of coffee Now, we put a little powder under all of them, and lay a train from one to of those giant firecrackers you had left First, he thought the blisters was hair,

I ga the torch on the powder under the barrel of dried apples, and in a second dried apples with the cat in it went might just as well call in a lawyer up to the ceiling, the stove was blown take my measure for a will, and over the counter, the cheese box and the old groceryman went with a crash to the back end of the store, the front store was full of smoke, the old man rushed out the back door with his whiskers singed and yelled "Fire!" while the bad boy fell out the front his hair singed, the cat got out with no hair to brag of, and before they could on stuff to take the swelling out, a breathe twice the fire department the next day he began to notice things came clattering up to a hydrant and soon turned the hose inside the grocery. There was not very much fire, and after tipping over every barrel and box that had not been blown skyhigh the firemen gave one last look at the inside of the grocery, one last squirt at the burned and singed cat, that had crawled into a bag of cinnamon on the top shelf, and they went away, leaving the doors and windows open; the crowd dispersed, and the tad boy went in the front door, peered around under the counter, pulled the cork out of a bottle of olive oil and began to anoint himself where he had been scorched. Hearing a shuffing, as of arctic overshoes filled with water, in the back shed, and a still small voice, saying, "Well, I'll be condemned," he locked up and saw the red face of the old groceryman peeking in the back

"Come in, Alexandroviski, and rub some of this sweet oil on your countenance, and put some kerosene on your head, where the hair was. Gee! but you are a sight. Don't you go out anywhere and let a horse see you, or he will run away."

"Have all the forts and war ships come down yet?" said the old man, looking up toward the ceiling, holding up his elbow to ward off any possible descending barrel or stove lid. "I now realize the truth of Cen. Sherman's resmarts where the skin is burnt off. (live me some of that salad oil," and the old man sopped the oil on his face and head, and the boy rubbed his lips and ears, and they looked at each other, and tried to smile two cracked, and wrinkled and scorched smiles, across the counter at each other. "Now, you little Japanese monkey, l hope you are satisfied, after you have wrecked my store, and fitted me fer the hospital, and I want you to get out of here, and never come back."

"Say, you are unreasonable. Do you think I will go off and leave you to die here under the counter of bloodpoisoning, like a dog that has eaten a loaded sausage? Never! I am going to nurse you through this thing, and bring you out as good as new. I know how you feel towards me. Dad felt the same way towards me, down in Florida, the time he got skun. You old people don't seem to appreciate a boy that tries to teach you useful nol-

What about your dad getting skun In Florida? I never heard about it," said the old groceryman, as he took a hand mirror and looked at his burned face. "Why, that was when we first got down there," said the boy, looking at the old man and laughing. "Gee! but you would make a boy laugh if his lips were chapped. You look like a greased plg at a barbecue. Well, when we struck Florida, and dad got so he could assimilate high balls, and eat oranges off the trees, like a giraf, he

He ast me if anybody ever raised any hair on a bald head that way, and I told him about Mr. Rockefeller, who had only one hair on his head, and he played golf bareheaded and in two weeks had to have his hair cut with a lawn mower, 'cause it made his brain ache. Dad said if Rockafeller could raise hair by the sunshine method he could, and he threw his straw hat overboard, and began to fish in the sun for fish and hair. His head and face looked like one of these hippopotamuses, and dad was mad. If I could have got dad in a side show I could have made a barrel of money, but h won't never make a show of hisself not even to make money, he is so proud. There is more proud flesh on dad than there is on any man I ever nursed. Well, dad ast me what wa good for blisters, and I told him lime juice was the best thing, so he sen me to get some limes. They are little sour thing, like a lemon, and told him to cut one in two and soa the juice on his head and face, and went to supper, 'cause dad looked s disreputable he wouldn't go to the dining room. When I bought the limes the man gave me a green per simmon, and of course dad got the persimmon instead of the lime, an when I came back to our room afte supper dad was in bed, yelling for mon puckers your mouth up when yo The boy lit the Roman candle, got eat it? Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Albert J. Weston, of Cleveland, O., says: "I have used your Castoria in my practice for the past eighteen years with the utmost success."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results." Dr. N. B.
